TRUST COMPANY IS OF SPECIAL benefit to those who have surplus funds, but who are unacquainted with investmentsa thing, indeed, that requires long experience and great familiarity.

Many people find themselves owners of property, real and personal, with none of the foresight of those who accumulated the property. A married woman with a separate estate, or a widow, must rely upon an agent of some kind for the proper care of such estate. Those who have savings from their industry need advice and direction to make their savings play their proper part in accumulation. For all these requirements THE INDIANA TRUST COMPANY offers its advice free, and its services-more complete than those of any individual agent-for a moderate compensation.

Spraying Fruit Trees. M. W. Davis, in Ohio Farmer.

The institute held at Watertown, and the excellent lecture delivered on spraying, set the farmers wild "for a day" on the subject, and a great many resolved to give it a trial, but so far as I know but three oumps were brought into this township. Two of them were used and laid aside; the third one I bought myself and used three times in my orchard. I also used it in the potato field. In spraying my orchard I used the dilute Bordeaux mixture. I selected 350 Rome beauty trees, and about the time the foliage began to show the pump was loaded on a light two-horse wagon and the first spraying done. We drove slowly between the rows and sprayed one side at a time without stopping. We found that one barrel would spray forty trees, and the 350 trees were gone over in one day. On one-half of the trees the bloom failed to appear; on the other half it was so light we expected no When the bloom fell we sprayed again, adding one-quarter pound of Paris green to each barrel of mixture. In ten days from the second spraying we sprayed the third and last time. As the season advanced we could see the apples begin to snow, and at picking time we were surprised to find we had sixty bushels of as fine Rome beauties as we had ever seen, which sold for $1 per bushel, besides all we wanted for winter. Our groceryman told my girl he would take anything of her that looked like an apple She went back to the orchard and gathered the culls and sold $22 worth more. This may look like a small showing, but it paid for the pump and material and gave us not less than $10 a day for our work. The work was all done by myself and children. My girl drove while my boy and myself handled the pump and hose. It "done me proud" to drive up to the grocery with my load of fine apples and have the farmers ask how it came that I had apples this

Washington Post. Al Lewis, of the Chicago Times, furnished his paper with some sizzling ad ministration stories last week. One of them was so warm as to cause one of the editors of that journal to threaten to resign if it was printed. He resigned, and in this connection it should be stated that he is an applicant for office at the hands of the administration, and his act is looked upon as a grand stand play for the place.

BULLS SNOWED UNDER

Early Advance Slumped Off on Report of Increased Visible.

Wheat Fluctuated, but Corn Was Steady and Closed with Little Change-Provisions Very Quiet.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—The visible supply report was disastrous to the bull interests today. After opening higher and advancing %c, wheat took a downward shoot and landed with May only 1/3c higher and December %c better than Saturday's closing prices. Corn was steady and closed without noteworthy change. Provisions were firm and very quiet. The bullish sentiment which prevailed at the close of Saturday's trading was still manifest at to-day's opening, and wheat began the day higher. The commission houses were well supplied with buying orders, and Liverpool markets were quoted steady. London and French country markets were also reported firm, and receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth were but 746 cars, compared with 1,201 cars the preceding Monday and 1,882 cars on the corresponding day last year. Under these favorable conditions prices were advanced and the bears retired for a time, while the bulls made unkind remarks regarding a well-known fur-bearing animal said to be afflicted with a sore head. The general impression among traders was that to-day's visible supply report would show a decrease of at least 500,000 bushels, and this was a decided bull influence, further aiding the advance. Prices held steady until the anxiously-awaited report was received, and then the bears had their inning. The visible showed an increase of 808,000 bushels, and immediately took a fall out of prices. The decline for a few minutes was rapid, but was arrested for a time by reports of remarkably light Indian shipments. Closing cables were irregular, Paris quoting a decline, and prices went down to the close. May opened at 69%c, advanced %c, then lost %c, gained %c, lost %c, dropped 4c, sold off 4c, and rallied 1/sc, to close at 69%c.

Offerings and demand were light in the corn pit, and little business was transacted. May opened unchanged at 40%c, advanced %c on better Liverpool quotations and the bulge in wheat, lost 1/2c with the weakness in wheat, and rallied 1/sc, to close where it had opened. Continued dullness was the only feature at 31%c, advanced 4c in sympathy with corn and closed at the opening figures. Provisions were dull, the opening being at a slight advance on lighter hog receipts than the estimates. Buying by the Anglo-American Packing Company and Sam Wolf sent prices up a trifle, but with lack of demand most of the gain was lost. As compared with Saturday night January pork is 2½c higher, January lard .10c higher, in the oats market. May opened unchanged and January ribs .021/2c. Lake business is over for the season. Th last charter was 3%c to load and hold wheat in Buffalo. Rail rates were easy at 20c per 100 pounds for flour and grain to New York. Estimated receipts to-morrow are: Wheat, 180 cars; corn. 340 cars; oats, 170 cars; hogs, 27,000. Leading futures

TRADE IN GENERAL.

Quotations at St. Louis, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Other Points. MINNEAPOLIS. Dec. 4.-Minneapolis received last week 1,296,000 bu and Duluth 937,000 bu, besides shipping out of the North-west, direct from the interior and the farm sales to country mills, with an increase in the country houses of some 300,000 bu. All these show an apparent rate of sales amounting to 500,000 bu a day. December opened at 58%c, May at 63%c; after advance of %c the close was 58%c for December and 63%c for May; track closed at 61%c for hard, 60%c for No. 1 Northern and 56% of for No. 2; receipts, 529 cars; shipments, 26 cars. The Persistent Bacillus.

Berlin Letter. After a long investigation, the death of we wealthy ladies, recently, of typhoid fever was traced to the fact that they had eaten oysters at a first-class winehouse on the Friedrich strasse called the Rebstack. and kept by a wine-grower named Wilhelmi, a brother of the famous violinist. It has been decided that the oysters became contaminated by placing ice taken from the river Spree upon the oysters in order to cool them, and the ice introduced into them typhoid fever bacilli. Professor Koch, it may be added, gave warning long ago that freezing does not destroy the vitality of the bacillus. Cleveland Can't Stand It.

New York Commercial Advertiser. The President who appointed Van Alen n consideration of $50,000 cash could hardly be expected to withstand the temptation to turn a penny, or at least strengthen himself politically, in operating the Indian service, conveniently removed from popular gaze. The Indian Rights Association complains that of fifty-seven Indian agents removed politics figured in forty-four cases and the service suffered. Mr. Cleveland's aspirations are lofty, but he has the weakness of the Maine man who confided to his pastor that there was not one thing he could
